

What Is The Next Step?

Yes, there are going to be many more steps. I am only one person who has opened the door so to speak concerning the commonality of man and the reign of God along with the knowledge shared about our common enemy.

We have learned that the reign of God is not limited to "territory" i.e. church. In doing so we have looked closely at God's plan for redeeming all mankind.

We looked at John the Baptist and Jesus as Prophets of God. Something we sometimes forget to do with Jesus the Messiah. And that is because we emphasize the Messiah and overlook Jesus being the last prophet to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

You have looked briefly at the "commonality of man" and that at the tower of Babel that all begins to change. As man moves apart from one another, there is opportunity of Satan to being to introduce other Gods for men to worship.

You have briefly look at the results of this confusion. You can look around you and see the "world religions" and that they are not of God.

What you are hopefully beginning to see, is that like it or not, expecting it or not--man is in the middle of a war for the possession of his human soul throughout eternity.

Most of us do not recognize or understand what Satan has done to us and yet if we can what we had in the beginning perhaps, just perhaps a few of us can begin to seek God where God is found. In His Eternal Word.

Thus this is only the beginning for many of us. Do we understand that prior to the coming of Jesus the Jewish Messiah--every single human being outside of Israel was under our adversary's control.

What changes after the Jewish Messiah is rejected by the Jews is that they by their rejection have opened the door for the whole world to be redeemed.

As the gospel goes out into the world people hear it and obey it they become children of God and Satan loses the person. It isn't that Satan is going to give up because He isn't. He will try and keep trying to get that person to leave Christ. And, he will use anything and everything He has to attack man as his weakest point to accomplish this goal.

What Is The Next Step?

We have looked at "Christianity" and what Satan has done to Christianity so that truth is very well hidden amongst the lies.

We used the issue of Marriage, Divorce and Remarriage as an example of Satan dividing and separating Christians.

One of the ways that all of us can work through this is to begin to see Jesus as the Messiah for the Jews.

And, to separate out the covenants and to understand that Mark 1:ff and Acts 2:38 offer two total and complete gospels to two totally different audiences.

The only safe haven in this world is "being in Christ" and being in Christ is like being a bright light in a world full of darkness thus drawing our adversary closer to us and attacking us full tilt.

The "world" has been in darkness for a long long time and today there are not many nations where Christianity is not present.

However, all it takes for Satan to win is for the Saints to be totally silent on this matter and by doing nothing--allow Satan to regain control of the world we live and work in.

So it is going to be up to Christians to keep putting forth the good news of ACTS 2 in order that men make be able to make choices and one of those choices.

For man lost in darkness, your only hope of eternal life with God is to find God in His Word. There are no other options. Satan has simply closed the door to anything else.

Good luck and God bless each of us in our journey through this life.
